Farmer Shot Twice In Head After Two-Car Collision

Three Held For Gunfire Along Highway

MATTHEWS — Richard L. Richards, 29-year-old farmer, was shot twice in the head with a .22 caliber pistol, last night following a two-car collision involving one of his employees. Authorities accused Billy Joe Garrett, 35, East Prairie, of the shooting.

The shooting took place, following the accident four miles east of Matthews on highway 80 at 6 p.m. last night when a 1956 Buick, driven by Garrett, sideswiped a 1964 Chevrolet pickup, driven by Isaac Barker, 43, employed by Richards.

The Buick failed to stop after the accident, the state patrol charged. Lonnie Garrett and Sam Irby, both of East Prairie and in their 30s, were passengers in the Buick.

The accident was witnessed by Richards, who with his brother Larry Richards, 27, and Barker, caught up with the three a mile from the accident scene.

Richards was shot and left lying in a ditch along the highway and his brother, Larry, was driven away and let out on a country road five miles west of the oil mill north of New Madrid. Larry Richards caught a ride into town.

The New Madrid county sheriff's office said that Garrett had escaped last June from Angola prison in Mississippi, where he was serving a sentence for murder.

The three East Prairie men left in different vehicles. Lonnie Garrett and Irby were taken into custody near the accident scene. Billy Joe Garrett, was captured by the highway patrol, near Ste. Genevieve. He is being held in the Ste. Genevieve county jail.

Richards L. Richards farms 600 acres of land and is married and has two children. Shortly after the shooting he was taken to the Missouri Delta Community Hospital, where an X-ray revealed the bullet wounds, and then transferred to Methodist hospital in Memphis.

He is in the intensive care ward. His condition is critical. New Madrid county officials said that charges would be filed against the three men, for auto theft, leaving the scene of an accident, and assault with a deadly weapon.

Newsman's Film Soaked, Garage Burns

Dan Whittle, Daily Standard reporter, was doused by a fire hose while attempting to take a picture of a blazing garage, his clothing soaked, the film ruined and the camera damaged.

He signed a complaint in the office of Fielding Potashnick, Scott county prosecuting attorney, this morning charging James V. Shelton, a volunteer fire captain living at 703 Greer St., with common assault and a complaint at the police station charging him with assault and affray.

Shelton when asked this morning by the Standard if he had any comment said that "it was an accident."

Whittle said that he had never seen Shelton before he was showered yesterday at 5:30 p.m. while taking a picture of the garage at the U. L. Standridge home, 512 South New Madrid. The garage was destroyed by the blaze.

"I had been at the fire scene three or four minutes," Whittle said. "I stepped in front of the garage and was focusing the camera when a fireman turned the fire hose on me. The stream of water hit me in the face and struck the camera."

"The fireman who had pointed the hose at me said: 'We are here to do a job and don't want any publicity.'"

"I asked for his name three times. He refused to give it to me."

"After I walked away, the same fireman came around the corner of the Standridge house and threatened me with these words: 'I'll whip your ...'"

Whittle said that he reported the splashing at the scene to Patrolman Richard Wallace.

Castro Halts Boat Sailings

KEY WEST, Fla. AP -- Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro halted small boat sailings as of midnight tonight in advance of a refugee airlift and the Coast Guard geared to help hundreds of Cubans expected to rush embarkation before the deadline.

"They are on their way," a Coast Guard spokesman said. Waves 10 feet high were reported in the Florida Straits which separate Cuba from the United States.

Castro's move was a prelude to a U. S.-Cuban agreement to fly 3,000 to 4,000 refugees a month to the United States. Gustavo Hidalgo, captain of a 23-foot fiber glass boat, arrived here today and said: "The Castro officials wanted to send out all boats that wanted to go, regardless of the weather."

Hidalgo said, "We radioed the Coast Guard to take off our women, children and old people; 11 were transferred to a Coast Guard vessel 20 miles from Cuba."

Interstate 55 Link South Fast Nearing Completion

By Leo Schade
Construction of interstate highway 55 from Sikeston south to below New Madrid is fast nearing completion.

Paving of a 23.38 mile stretch has been laid, except for a 20-foot section on the old Cotton Belt right-of-way. The rail will be taken out in two weeks after overhead tracks have been laid.

An early winter completion date is possible.

The contract price for the total stretch from Sikeston south to three miles below New Madrid, including all grading, bridgework and paving comes to, $7,689,291.77.

The paving and grading work was let in three contracts, the first to Menefee and Koss, Des Moines, Iowa, for a total of 11.02 miles, at a cost of $3,468,819.70, and began at the north edge of New Madrid county, east of Sikeston.

The second section for 7.87 miles to Peter Kewitt and Sons, Wichita, Kas., began 2.3 miles north of route T, south to route 61 and 62 underpass for 5.57 miles. The total contract price was $2,388,573.

The third section for 4.49 miles was awarded to R. B. Potashnick Co., Cape Girardeau, for $1,831,898.68. The project began at a point south of the overpass on highway 61, north of New Madrid to its dead-end, 1,600 feet south of the highway 61 overpass near Howardsville.

Construction work on the 23-mile project was favored by good weather that ran for numerous consistent periods without interruption.

Within 30 to 45 days a 65-mile stretch of four-lane pavement will be open to the public that will reach from below New Madrid to north of Jackson four miles.

The highway construction has been underway almost five years and has involved hundreds of workmen.

The northern portion was the first pavement laid in Missouri on Interstate 55.

The next work will begin at the Howardsville and Lilbourn section and continue south 14 miles to route A, east of Wardell. The contract will be let in April. Completion date could be by the end of 1966.

The next nine-mile stretch will be south of Hayti, and may be let in two contracts early in 1967.

The balance of the 10-mile stretch from this point to Steele, and a point east of Holland, will be let in 1968.

This project would include a cloverleaf tied in with the highway destined for the new Caruthersville bridge over the Mississippi river.

The northern portion of Interstate 55, from Fruitland will present a different picture. This stretch which runs to the Crystal City - Festus area will not be let until 1970. It will be completed in 1972.

How soon the 50 additional miles of I-55 south to the Arkansas line will be completed depends on obtaining right-of-way, which according to district 10 highway officials is slow because some persons have asked a high price for their land.

District 10 includes the Southeast counties from the Arkansas line to the Cape Girardeau-Perry county line.

A carnival theme prevailed with a refreshment stand, a kissing booth, a fish pond and a fortune teller's booth set up in one corner of the room to entertain the guests as they arrived.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Melfred Taylor, Mrs. W. U. Myers, Miss Pauline Husher, Mrs. C. R. Foster, Mrs. A. L. Gregory and Mrs. Cecil Link. Mrs. Taylor was chairman of the hostess and program committees.

Patti McMullin, vocalist, entertained the group with several songs during the dinner hour. She was accompanied by Elizabeth Martin.

Immediately following the meal, Mrs. Walter Powell, president, welcomed the group after which the bosses and guests were introduced.

The Travelers, a folk-singing group, were present to furnish further entertainment. The quartet, composed of Mike Hopkins, Sue Foster, Terry Burke and Steve Matthews, presented seven vocal and instrumental selections.

One of the highlights of the evening came when a group of "stage and television stars" showed up to play "Celebrity Game." Impersonating stars were W. U. Myers as Hoss Cartwright, Tony Statler as Mickey Rooney, Mrs. C. R. Foster as Zsa Zsa Gabor, Dr. Thelma Buckthorpe as Hedda Hopper, Miss Callie Burket as Perle Meste, Mrs. Warren Topp as Phyllis Diller, Darrell Alcorn as Richard Burton, Henry Bussey as Hot Lips Bussey and Mrs. Billie Burch as Irene Ryan.

Cards Manager Is Trying To Build A Better Ball Club

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. LOUIS (AP) — Little-known Bob Howsam has had his troubles since becoming general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, but they are nothing compared to the spot he is on now.

Howsam replaced the popular Bing Devine in August 1964, causing an uproar among St. Louis fans that became deafening when the Cardinals went on to win the pennant and World Series with Devine's players.

Then, in his first full season at the helm, the 1965 Cardinals finished seventh.

As if he didn't have enough troubles, in the last week Howsam has traded three-fourths of the infield that carried the team to the flag.

"I guess I'm really on the spot now," he said after trading first baseman Bill White, shortstop Dick Groat and catcher Bob Uecker to the Philadelphia Phillies Wednesday for outfielder Alex Johnson, pitcher Art Mahaffey and catcher Pat Corrales.

"But I'm a positive thinker," said the 47-year-old Coloradan, wearing his always present smile. "I'm not trying to get rid of players. I'm trying to build a better ball club."

Last week, he traded third baseman Ken Boyer, the league's Most Valuable Player in 1964, to the New York Mets for pitcher Al Jackson and infielder Charley Smith. Thus, almost half of the team that won the world championship is gone.

"We have added some young ballplayers to a club we expect to be fast and aggressive," he said. "If we do any more dealing, it will be with fringe players."

If Johnson, Mahaffey, Corrales, Jackson and Smith have good years in 1966, Howsam will have proved that he can meet the challenge handed him by the Cardinals and St. Louis fans. He will have won with "my team."

However, if those players fail, Howsam also realizes he could find himself back in Denver, where he was an insurance company executive before joining the Cardinals.

Howsam feels he has learned a great deal since taking the general manager job, a position in which he was named Minor League Baseball Executive of the Year with the Denver Bears in 1961 and 1966.

He also was one of five men who organized the American Football League and later he became president of the Denver Broncos of the AFL.

Cairo vs. Eldorado

HOME COMING JINX? -- Following the Bluejays 20-7 defeat to the Cairo Pilots Friday night, Charleston may be inclined to give up homecoming activities. The Jays, with a respectable team the past three years, have faltered in their annual homecoming tilt. Three years ago, the Bluejays were odds-on favorites to defeat Poplar Bluff, when the game ending whistle sounded, it was Bluff 14, Charleston 7. Then last year faltered at homecoming time, and, this year the Pilots, a touchdown underdog, emerged victorious.

UNDERDOG AGAIN -- When the Eldorado Eagles come calling at Schultz Field this week, the Pilots will be the underdogs again. But, twice this season, the Pilots have humbled favorites, once at home and once at Charleston. The Eagles have run roughshod over their opponents this season in posting a 5-0 record. They have basically the same team the Pilots whipped last year, 28 to 7, Jesse Hathaway, a speedster in the backfield will be the man to watch. The Metropolis Trojans

Mules Play At Charleston, Malden At East Prairie

The Mules have their work cut out for them this week as they take on the conference leaders, the Charleston Bluejays, in a game there Friday night.

The Jays lead the conference with 3-0 record. They are 5-2 for the season in all games. However with the two defeats the Jays have not lost to a Southeast Missouri team. Their losses came against Paducah, Ky., and Cairo, Ill., who has climbed back up in the football world.

The Mules will have to play one of their best games of the year if they are to get by the Jays. They have an outstanding quarterback in Terry Brashers and a top runner in Frank Powell.

The Malden Green Wave shoots for at least a share of the South Conference title when they go to East Prairie. The Wave would be 6-0 in the conference with a win this week and then would have only Dexter remaining on their league schedule. Chaffee (4-1) and Dexter (3-1) are in the challenger's position.

Either Dexter or Chaffee will be knocked out of the picture this week as they clash at Chaffee. The Bearcats have come along well since the start of the season and with Bruce MacDonald's running they are a threat. Mike Sturm has moved to backfield from some offense and the big 210 pounder can get the yards.

Cape Central is in second place this week in the North Conference. They are 2-1 in league play. They will play at Kennett and the Indians have a task of stopping big Syl Johnson. Stikeston, who was upset by Central last week, will be at home to the Jackson Indians as they seek to start a new winning streak.

Caruthersville goes to Gideon for a South Conference game. Gideon is the only team in the area that hasn't won a game.

Piggott plays at Hayti and Portageville at Valle High in non-conference games. Portageville will have an open date.

Schoemehl Leads District Scoring

Tom Schoemehl scored two touchdowns against Chaffee last Friday to lead the Malden Green Wave to a victory and increased his South Conference and district scoring lead to 48 points. He has scored eight touchdowns.

Bruce Henning, Portageville, scored once and is in the runner-up spot with 36 points. Glen Whitener, Hayti, has 32 and Glen Stewart, also of Hayti, has 31.

Frank Powell, Charleston, and Randy Taylor, Perryville, scored to increase their total to 30 points and gained a tie for the North Conference lead with Roger Oster, Perryville, who had led from the start of the season.

Ronnie Hamra, Portageville, continues to lead the district in extra points with 13. Mike Whitehead, Malden, and Danny Lopp, Stikeston, are close behind with 11 each.

6,188 Geese Killed

SUMNER, Mo. AP -- Hunters killed 6,188 geese in the Swan Lake area during the first five days of the open season on the birds in Missouri.

The Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife said the opening day bag, Oct. 20, was 2,271. The Missouri geese season for Swan Lake will continue until Dec. 28 or until the area quota of 25,000 Canada geese is taken by hunters.

A survey Monday by the Missouri Conservation Commission showed 107,000 Canadas; 17,000 blue and snow geese and 54,000 ducks in the area. Missouri has set a 10-shell limit for hunters in the public hunting area. The bureau said the limitation has been well received by hunters and has decreased "sky-busting" in the area.

MIGHTY SMOOTH

(New Turbo-Jet V8)

(Even softer Jet-smooth ride)

'66 Chevrolet Impala Sport Coupe—one of 19 models with fine-sculptured new Body by Fisher

NOW! '66 CHEVROLET JET-SMOOTHER IMPALA

If you go by first impressions, you could get the idea this clean-honed new '66 is more car than you ever got in an Impala before. And you'd be right.

Take Chevrolet's newest V8's, for instance. They're based on the famed Turbo-Jet design with aircraft-type valves, freer breathing valve openings and other advances that deliver more efficient power than ever before.

Result: You can now order a 396-cubic-inch version with 325 hp. Or you can go for a 427-cubic-inch Turbo-Jet with up to 425 hp.

The ride, too, has reached a new Jet-smooth level of comfort. Chevrolet engineers went over the whole frame and body structure, refining here, honing there. They installed softer acting shock absorbers and even gave each body style its own specially tailored Full Coil springs.

And there's more in the way of those little extras—that come as standard equipment. Like backup lights, padded sun visors and instrument panel, outside rear-view mirror and windshield washer. More in the way of custom features you can order, too, including front-seat headrests, AM-FM stereo and automatic Comforton heating and air conditioning.

How come so many improvements have been made in a car that was already America's solid favorite? That, as you'll see when you check this one out at your dealer's, is what keeps it the favorite. Improvements.

See the new '66 Chevrolet, Chevelle, Chevy II, Corvair and Corvette at your Chevrolet dealer's.

has been established along the Black fault in northeastern Reynolds county. Dr. C. L. Dake, geologist formerly on the staff of the Missouri Geological Survey, identified the fault as shown on the geologic map of the Edgemoor quadrangle published by the survey in 1930. Rock layers exposed at the surface in the county are displaced more than 250 feet vertically on opposite sides of the fault. More recent geologic mapping has extended the surface limits of the fault eight miles northwest to near Bixby and six miles southeast beyond Lesterville. Five major northwest-southeast fault zones in the state have been identified by the survey as a result of surface geologic mapping, deep drill hole data, and gravity and magnetic geophysical investigations. Movement along these fault zones has occurred repeatedly throughout geologic time to the present. Most earthquakes affecting Missouri since the destructive New Madrid quakes of 1811-1812 have centered in four areas, according to Rev. William Stauder, of St. Louis university. As shown on the map, these are: Southeast of Charleston in east-central Mississippi County; New Madrid area; Cañonville-Hayti area; and near Osceola, Ark. The location of these more active centers of recent earthquakes along the major fault zones is not mere coincidence. As stresses are accumulated in the crust of the earth, they are relieved by movement along the major fault zones, with attendant shifting of solid rock "blocks" between the faults.

Although initial movement is along a fault, earthquake waves are transmitted away from the focus in all directions through the solid rock. However, the northwest-southeast trend of the fault zones accounts for the more noticeable effects of a quake along a northwest-southeast trend. Of the five major fault zones, "B" is the most pronounced and readily identified, and is known to extend more than 330 miles. The Black fault forms the surface indication of this fault in Reynolds county. This fault zone extends from New Madrid, through Dexter, east of Lake Wapapello, along the Black fault, near the disturbed area of Crooked creek (5 miles south of Steelville), crosses I-44 near St. James, passes about 6 miles south of Jefferson City, near Booneville, to Chillicothe in Livingston County. Other major fault zones shown on the map: A -- From Mississippi county along the Cape Girardeau and Ste. Genevieve faults along the eastern side of the St. Francois Mountains, northwest to Macon County. C -- From Pemiscot county, through Shannon county, near the Decaturville disturbance (Camden-Laclede line), to the vicinity of Kansas City. D -- From Howell County along the faulted area north of Springfield to south of Butler, Bates County. E -- From Taney county along the "10 o'clock" fault, the Chesapeake fault (Lawrence county), to south of Nevada, Vernon county. As the crust of the earth adjusts to a more stable environment, additional tremors along these major fault zones may be expected.

Students Critical Of U.S.

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) -- At the end of Tuesday night's "Town Meeting of the World" on CBS, Charles Collingwood, conductor of the turbulent session, wondered how well university students of London, Paris, Belgrade and Mexico City had communicated with the distinguished panel in the United States -- and how well the panel had communicated with them. It was an apt summary of the hour of "global dialogue" -- really global wrangling -- for the students did communicate to the American television audience their intense disapproval and suspicion of the United States position in both Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic without once voicing disapproval or criticism of Communist aims and activities. Representing the United States were former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, ambassador to the United Nations Arthur J. Goldberg and Solicitor General Thurgood Marshall, none of them resorting to rough and tough argument but all trying to defend the government's positions and aims. But, judging from rude snickers by London students, burst of applause in Mexico City on questions of intervention in the Dominican Republic, and the stony reception elsewhere to explanations of policy, it all fell on deaf, disbelieving ears. The idea of bringing together via satellite all these people sounds better than it works out. The strongly accented English of some of the questioners was difficult to understand. Most of the students seemed far more eager to pick a fight or make a speech than ask questions. Our defenders generally stuck to general answers that often were so broad that they were hardly satisfying even to the American television audience. The program must have been an eye opener to viewers who believed that we have some friends among young intellectuals abroad. Man to friend: "She's so pretty that on the way home in the cab I could hardly keep my eyes on the meter." Mark Beltaire

Books Given In Memory Of Owen Whitfield

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- Three libraries will get books in memory of Rev. Owen Whitfield, who died Aug. 10. One of the highlights of the annual banquet of the Missouri NAACP here was a special tribute in memoriam to the Rev. Mr. Whitfield of Sikeston. Whitfield was the leader of the roadside demonstrators of Missouri sharecroppers in the thirties. Known as the "grandfather of street demonstrations", Whitfield stirred the nation by sitting in protest at their plight on highway 61 when the depression left them homeless and hungry. Phyllis Williams, St. Louis youth delegate made the presentation in memory of Whitfield. On behalf of the Missouri State Conference of NAACP Branches, Miss Williams presented a copy of the book, "Great Negroes Past and Present" to the following libraries in Southeast Missouri: The Mississippi County Library in

Plant Blast Burns Employee

DEXTER -- An explosion in the drying oven at International Hat Company Thursday at 6 p.m., slightly injured Dale Eskew who was working in the dip room at the time of the blast. Eskew sustained a slight burn on his left ear and his hair was singed, according to reports. Plant manager Claude Roderman said that damage to the building was not extensive. The oven bulged from the blast and the walls of the dip room were spread apart four inches at the impact, according to Fire Chief Leslie McMunn.

The sprinkler system that automatically goes off in the event of a fire prevented the spread of fire, it was reported. Total hat damage was reported to 36 dozen of the plant prod-

ABOUT OUR SCHOOLS

by LYNN TWITTY

While the federal government has always assumed some financial responsibility for education in the nation, the amount of funds was relatively insignificant until recently when legislation enacted by our congress has made them rather significant "junior partners" in paying for the education of our citizens. As the federal government participates more fully in paying for education, the question then arises as to how this will effect the traditional local control of schools. Historically Americans have felt that the primary control of education should be in local hands. Local boards of education were set up for this purpose. The states have also traditionally been given the responsibility for education within their borders but have given the control largely to local boards of education.

The federal governments role up to this point has been largely that of concern for education as it affected national welfare and money coming to schools from federal government, has generally been to encourage specific educational programs thought to be in the national interest.

A clearer definition of the areas of responsibility to be assumed by local communities, the state and the federal government has recently been the concern of many educators and lay citizens. I returned this week from an area meeting called by the National School Boards Association to consider this problem, in an effort to bring about the kind of cooperation that is required if we are to spend all tax dollars, whether local state or federal, in getting the best education for the individual and for the nation collectively.

This conference, on an invitation basis, was held in Chicago and included 120 school board members, 36 superintendents, 19 PTA officials, 15 State Department of Education representatives and several legislators. Represented were Missouri, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, Kentucky and Arkansas. The consensus of the conference was that control of public education should still remain largely with local communities, with the State Departments of Education providing educational leadership, research, experimentation and evaluation of programs conducted by local schools. The role of the federal government, it was thought by conference participants, should be to determine national needs for education, to work with State Departments of Education and to participate with local communities, states and the federal government in paying the bill for the kind of schooling that is necessary for all citizens for these times.

Our Board of Education is applying for a continuation of "Head Start Program," conducted during the past summer for pre-school children, to be carried out during part of the school year. We estimate that in the excess of 200 youngsters, eligible primarily because of economic or educational disadvantages, will be served in this program.

At present we do not have enough spare classrooms in our school buildings to house this additional number of children and we are investigating the possibility of making an arrangement with local churches for some of their classrooms and educational facilities. Several churches have indicated their willingness to lease classrooms in their educational building which are not used during the week. We appreciate the very excellent cooperation which we always get from our churches and believe that some satisfactory arrangement, which will enable us to provide the very valuable Head Start Program for our pre-school children, can be completed. We hope that we can get all, or most, of the classrooms at one location because of easier transportation, food services, etc.

We are working on projects, to be submitted to the State Departments of Education outlining ways of improving our school programs as permitted under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965. As we have previously stated, certain funds are available from the federal government, through our State Department of Education, which will enable us to provide educational opportunities and improvements which we can afford under our present budget. We are hoping that we will be approved to employ teacher aids to give our regular teachers more time to spend on the actual mechanics of instruction and to allow them more time to work with individual students who need this kind of attention. These teacher aids might be persons in the community who had some college work, and perhaps some experience in teaching but who might not be fully qualified for a regular teaching position.

We also hope to develop projects to provide additional instructional materials, better libraries - especially for elementary schools, improved health services, special teachers for some areas which we think should be improved, summer school courses in special subjects and for children who need additional instruction, assistance in bettering our teacher in-service training program for better teaching, after school study centers, special opportunity classes and others which will help us to do a better job of preparing our children for citizenship in this demanding and fast changing society.

Gateway Arch Is Topped Out

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Ironworkers inched a 10-ton keystone into place at the top of the Gateway Arch, 630 feet above the Mississippi River, here today.

The "topping-out" climaxed 32 years of planning and three years of construction on the nation's tallest monument, which symbolizes America's thrust across the Western wilderness a century ago.

More than 10,000 persons watched from the riverbank and from the roofs of buildings in downtown St. Louis.

The operator of the giant crane perched atop the north leg of the arch said the eight-foot wide keystone was a "very tight fit" and added that it would not be completely set in place for several hours.

The gleaming stainless steel arch, the nation's tallest monument and one of its most impressive, stands on the site where the westward movement began with Lewis and Clark's exploration and later with wagons moving west.

The arch and the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial, of which it is a part, were 32 years in the making. The idea was born during the great depression in the mind of a St. Louis mayor named Bernard Dickmann.

Dickmann wanted to replace riverfront slums with a permanent monument to the Western pioneers. The project served to turn St. Louis' face to the future. The whole downtown area is getting a facelift. Some $16 million in construction, including a new sports stadium, is under way in the shadow of the arch.

The Jefferson National Expansion Memorial, site of the arch, occupies 80 acres on the riverfront. One of the main features will be a museum of westward expansion beneath the arch. From the museum, visitors will ride in cable cars inside the legs of the arch to an enclosed observation platform at the keystone.

The project has cost $29 million -- three-fourths of it in federal funds -- so far and will cost another $8 million before its completion next year. Of this, $6 million is expected to be allocated by Congress and $2 million is expected to come from a St. Louis bond issue.

The arch itself is the only structure of its size and shape in the world. The architect, Eero Saarinen, who died in 1961, said it would withstand a tornado and should be there forever. The arch is concrete and steel and iron with a stainless steel exterior.

Grand Dragon Keeps Mum

WASHINGTON AP -- Congressional probes, pursuing reports of a mysterious Klan group called "The Underground," got no help today from Robert E. Scoggin, grand dragon of the South Carolina Klan. Scoggin, appearing before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, declined to give more than his name. He refused even to say if he had originally been spelled Scoggins. There was no explanation of the question about the extra "s."

"THE MIGHTY MIDGET"

THE WANT AD Will Do the Job for You

ANN LANDERS Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I am a wretched, miserable woman who let my imagination run wild. I accused my husband of things that were not true, put him through hell and insisted that he fire his secretary. I shamed him before his friends, his family and the people he works with.

I have always had trouble with my nerves. This past year was my worst. I felt myself losing control. Whenever my husband came home from work a half hour late I accused him of having an affair with his secretary. Finally I gave him a choice -- either fire his secretary or face a nasty divorce. He dismissed her that very week and has not mentioned a word about it since. I know now he did it because he couldn't bear to lose the children.

Three months have passed and I realize I was mistaken. I want to go to the woman and apologize and ask her to come back. My husband says I've done enough and to leave things alone.

My conscience is killing me. Can you help? --SO SORRY

Dear Sorry: It would be an act of charity if your husband allow you to go to his former secretary and apologize and ask her to return to the office. Even if she refused to return it would help clear the air and you would feel better. I hope he will reconsider.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 17 and a high school senior (male). My parents and I do not see eye to eye on a very important matter.

I had a wonderful job all summer which I enjoyed thoroughly. Now that I'm back in school, my boss wants me to work from 4 to 8 p.m. and on Saturdays. I'd love to, Ann, but my parents said no. They are afraid it might ruin my grades and hinder my chances for getting into a first-class college.

I am very unhappy about their decision. I'm sure I could handle the job and still do well in school. Will you please give me your ideas on this? --METUCHEN-ITE

Dear M.: Some kids can handle both school and a part-time job. Others can't. I recommend a trial period. If your grades slip, the job must be given up. You sound like a winner to me.

Dear Ann Landers: My wife's mother is a very sweet person who never gets in anybody's way. She is getting on in years, however, and I'm afraid she has a few bats flying around in her belfry.

Granny tells our children (aged 10 and 8) that they have "upper class" blood in their veins and they should be very proud. She has told them they are descendants of Christopher Columbus. We are all Swedes, Ann. Apparently Granny doesn't know Columbus was Italian. She has shown them an opal ring which she says Columbus got from Queen Isabella. The 8-year-old wants to take the ring to school and show it to her class.

My wife insists these little stories are harmless--that kids love to use their imagination and that I should keep out of it. Well, I happen to think it's more serious than that. I don't want our kids to go around believing a lot of poppycock. What do you advise?--A COMMONER

Dear Commoner: Tell the kids that Granny enjoys telling stories but the stories are not actually true. Ask them to listen as they would listen to a fairy tale--just for the fun of it. And keep the opal ring out of school.

Confidential to USED AND ABUSED: Of course he won't get out of your life--why should he? He's never had it so good. So why don't you get out of his? Are you at war with your parents? Do they have too much to say in your life? Send for Ann Landers booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How To Get More Freedom."

Rome And The American Labor Union

By Rev. John E. Coogan, S.J.

QUESTION: But I thought American business was very prosperous. Critics of management talk as though the employer had a money-free! Is that so untrue?

The fact is that about 38 percent of American corporations in recent years have been making no profit at all. In 1961, more than 17 thousand firms failed, for a loss of $1.1 billion. In 1947, for our country as a whole, employee compensation was $7 for every $1 of corporate profits; by 1960 employee compensation was more than $12 for every $1 of corporate profits. In fact, "Labor, in the period 1948 to 1957 took for itself 121.8 percent of the gains resulting from increased production." This despite the fact that the increased productivity was largely the result of additional capital investment! Prof. Hayek, University of Chicago economist, spoke the simple truth when he said that: "Where very large and very durable investments have once been made, it is today the owner of these investments who is almost completely at the mercy of an effective monopoly of the supply of labor."

Such continuously increasing demands from labor unions for wages, coupled with all the output limitations and foot-dragging we have mentioned, mean that the management has little money for expanding plant or modernizing equipment. Consequently management is at a disadvantage in competition with foreign industry, benefited by lower wages and modern equipment. The consequence is periodic unemployment, concerning which the unions complain that management has failed in its duty!

Moscow May Be Isolating Red China

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

AP Special Correspondent

Moscow may be getting up steam behind a drive to isolate Red China's warlike policies and create conditions in which Viet Nam peace talks could be held.

A clue to thinking in the Moscow bloc -- at a time when Kremlin patience with Peking seems near the breaking point -- came in a broadcast from Czechoslovakia. It contained one of the most outspoken condemnations of China's Viet Nam policy from a Communist source and carried a hint of division in the Viet Cong leadership over peace talk demands.

The broadcast concerned a statement in Finland last week by the Moscow representative of the National Front for Liberation of South Viet Nam -- NLFV -- the Viet Cong's political front. It came at a time when an international Communist meeting was in session in Prague, and it is unlikely that it could reflect anything but an official view.

The Prague version of the Viet Cong representative's remarks to a group of students differed to a degree from a report carried by Helsinki newspapers. The difference was one of shading -- perhaps indicating wistful thinking.

According to the Helsinki papers, he said "relations between China and the Viet Cong are not very warm, even now." In this version he repeated Communist demands that the Americans withdraw completely from South Viet Nam and end raids on the North as preconditions for talks. Then, when asked if U.S. withdrawal was a fixed precondition, he replied: "It does not matter if they are there or not, as long as they accept our final conditions."

The Prague radio's version went this way: "Nguyen Van Dong, NLFV representative in Moscow, said that relations between the Viet Cong and People's China now are considerably strained. The Viet Cong, in his words, has no definitive claims under which the United States would have to withdraw its units from South Viet Nam before it would be possible to start peace talks. The Viet Cong only insists that the United States must recognize the NLFV as a partner in the talks."

This seemed to lift the precondition of U.S. advance withdrawal and limit the Viet Cong demands to a seat at a conference table, rather than recognition as South Viet Nam's only legal representative, as Hanoi and Peking have insisted.

The way Prague quotes the NLFV representative, there is a hint of division in the Viet Cong ranks and probably in Hanoi, which fathered the liberation front. It also adds substance to a growing impression that Peking is becoming more and more isolated in the Communist world.

This seemed to be reflected in the Prague broadcast, which said that if "the entire NLFV leadership" endorsed the statement made in Helsinki, "it will mean for Chinese policy the last step in the isolation in which it finds itself at every step because of its unrealistic war-seeking of the past few weeks."

The "past few weeks" could include China's interference in the India-Pakistan war over Kashmir. It could include Vice Premier Chen Yi's dare to the Kremlin leaders to join "the U.S. imperialists and Indian reactionaries" in an attack on China. It could include the painful Chinese setback when a Red-backed coup collapsed in Indonesia.

has its tiger by the tail in Viet Nam -- Moscow because the war has spread confusion in world Communist ranks and threatens to involve the U.S.S.R.; Washington because the Communist attitude up to now has left open no honorable avenue to peace.

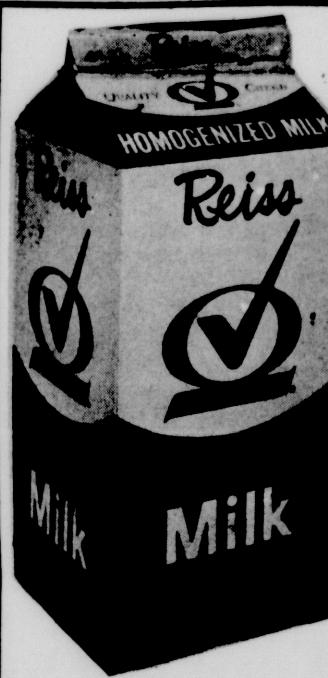

But the Viet Cong takes increasingly more punishment all the time, and Communist North Viet Nam obviously is hurting. Referring to these factors, the Prague broadcast said: "The Vietnamese people (meaning the Viet Cong) would not be able to agree indefinitely with the Chinese attitude that the struggle must be waged till the victorious end, whatever the price." It said this complaint not only was the attitude of the NLFV man in Moscow, but "has been confirmed straight from the NLFV center."

Enrollment in Matthews Drops

MATTHEWS -- Enrollment in the Matthews R-5 school district this year, at 897, is down 55 from last year at the corresponding time.

There are 90 pupils in Ogden, 45 in Big Ridge, 114 in Canalou, 283 in the first six grades in Matthews, 91 in grades 7 and 8, and 266 in the high school. New teachers in the Matthews School this year are Dwayne Collier of Marked Tree, Ark., who is teaching mathematics in the junior high; Mrs. Linda Barnes, originally from Paducah, Ky., who is teaching Spanish and French; Mrs. Jean McMullen, who teaches music and taught last year at New Madrid, and Mrs. Margaret Ward of Kewanee, who teaches fourth grade.

The New Madrid county health department conducted a two-day immunization clinic here last week. Eye and ear examinations also were made at that time.

Hosler Wanted In Michigan

KENNETT -- Joseph Hosler, Jr., 27, of Holcomb, held in Dunklin county jail in Kennett on a charge of felonious assault in the beating of Eddie Joe McGee, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. John McGee of Holcomb, now faces an extradition warrant from Flint, Mich., for parole violation.

Hosler was arrested in Holcomb by Deputy Sheriff Radford Raines and Trooper N.F. Mobley for the beating he gave the McGee boy on Thursday. According to Deputy Raines, Hosler jumped on McGee at the side of Highway 25 near Pine City and severely injured him. He was brought to Dunklin County Memorial hospital at Kennett where he is still a patient and receiving treatment for bruises and possible internal injuries.

The warrant from authorities in Flint against Hosler was for violating a parole from a felony, believed by authorities to be for carrying a concealed weapon or for firing a gun within the city limits.

Today in U.S. History

Today is Thursday, Oct. 28, the 301st day of 1965. There are 64 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1886, the Statue of Liberty was unveiled in New York harbor.

In 1636, Harvard College was founded.

In 1776, the British defeated colonial forces in the Battle of White Plains (New York).

In 1918, Czechoslovakia proclaimed herself a free and independent republic.

In 1922, Benito Mussolini staged the Fascist march on Rome.

In 1940, Italian forces began their invasion of Greece.

Ten years ago — The United States announced it would permit travel to the Soviet Union and most of its Communist satellites.

Five years ago — President Dwight Eisenhower stepped up his presidential campaign activity with a speech in support of GOP candidate Richard Nixon in Philadelphia.

One year ago — Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai described the ouster of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev as "a good thing."

Hearing On Whiskey Cargo

CARUTHERSVILLE -- A hearing will be held here on disposal of a cargo of whiskey found in a truck. The liquor reportedly was being hauled to Mississippi, the remaining dry state.

Nolan W. Waymon was driving the truck. Officers said it carried 57 cases of whiskey, 100 cases of beer and gin. Labels had been scratched off. Value was estimated at $3,500.

Waymon raced away from officers at a weight station in Arkansas and Missouri officers were advised. Deputy Wesley Mayo stopped the truck in Pemiscot County. County officers said they believe the cargo was bought at Hayti.

Grease Fire Damages Food

DEXTER--A grease fire in the kitchen of the Hickory House restaurant was reported at 11 a.m. Sunday. Smoke damage was reported to the kitchen area, Fire Chief Leslie McMunn reported.

Damage to the building was confined to the smoke damage but the food that was spoiled would probably run into several hundred dollars, McMunn said.

The restaurant reopened late Sunday.
